The preliminary statement of the export trade of the United States for December and for the last calendar year is a most interesting and significant exhibit. It shows that during the month the market value of breadstuffs exported was $8,654,318 greater than for the same month of the previous year. The value of the cotton excember, 1895. This last increase is the more cotton was a cent a pound lower than for the same month of the previous year. For the calendar year the exports of breadstuffs were val-ued at nearly fifty-four and a half millions previous calendar year. For the four months the period mentioned was nearly a cent a pound important part the United States plays in fur-nishing food and various staple products to provement in foreign trade relations, which still continue. The speculative community, which the above figures are taken but was inin London was responsible for a fairly strong 2 Fig. 1. 2 Fig. ventures on the long side of the market. The buying power in both quarters was, however, so small that it soon became exhausted, and when news came from Washington of a grow-and in consequence the improvement noted early in the day was lost, as well as a part of yesterday's advance. The announce-ment, shortly before the close, that the Arbuckles are seeking to throw the American Sugar Refining Company's recently acquired coffee-roasting enterprise at Toledo into the hands of a receiver stimulated sales of Sugar Refining that were not without effect upon the entire list.

It would seem that the Street attaches altogether too much importance to the so-called war between the American Sugar Refining Company and the Arbuckles. To begin with, the last named have not yet taken the first steps toward laying the foundations of their proposed sugar refinery, an undertaking that it will take fully a year and a half to complete. In the mean time the Sugar Refining Company has secured control of a coffer-roasting plant of sufficient magnitude to fix the price for roasted coffees throughout the country. This means that the Sugar Relning Company can compel its prospective competitor in the sugar refining industry to transact its present business without profit, possibly at a loss, during the next eighteen months. When the proposed Arbuckle refinery is completed its output of 2,000 barrels of sugar a day will obviously be a comparatively small factor in a market that consumes an average daily output of 33,000 barrels by the American Refining Company, to may nothing of the output of two or three independent refineries. As the new refinery will be able to supply but a small percentage of the trade, it is not reasonable to suppose that it can affect the market seriously or for any great length of time. Regarding current reports that the Arbuckles may purchase some one of the independent refineries, there is the best of authority for the statement that none of them is in the market, and that the control of the more important ones is held in a way that virtually precludes their transfer.

The features of the market other than Sugar Refining were Chicago Gas, which was exceptionally strong throughout, Tennessee Coal and Iron, and Manhattan Railway. The market for Chicago Gas was influenced by the fact that a second quarterly dividend of 114 P cent, upon the certificates will be declared the latter part of this mouth and by prospects that a measure permitting the Chicago gas companies to formally consolidate will be enacted at the present session of the Illinois Legislature and will be come a law. The election of two well-known capitalists as directors of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company was generally regarded as strengthening the position of the company. That view, however, was hardly reflected in the market for the stock, because, as usual, the appoundement of the changes in the board was promptly followed by realizing sales, made presumably by operators who had ad-Railway was sold on evidence that the littgious bondholder who is attacking the company's dividual record and is seeking to pre-vent the payment of further dividends is intent upon exhausting all legal resources to harass the company. only noteworthy net fluctuations were in a few inactive stocks, notably Consulidated Gas, which was very dult, with the majority of the list at the lowest prices recorded. Final sales compared with those of yesterday: Jan. 12. Jan. 13.

The weekly reports of their condition that the banks of this city, Brooklyin, Jersey City and Staten Island that are not members of the Clearing House, but clear through members, are required to make under the new regulation of the Clearing House, show an interesting condition of affairs. The fifty-three banks referred to reported last Saturday aggregate deposits of $24.852,000 and loans and discounts of $5d,-258,000. This discloses a volume of business not reported in the weekly statement of the Clearing House Association much larger than any one had suspected. That the banks referred to are in the aggregate strong is shown by the fact that their average reserve against deposits is about 30 \(\psi$ cent.
